Applicant's response filed 05 January 2004, has been carefully considered. In view of the response including amendment filed the objection to claim 46 is withdrawn.

Claims 25-28, 32, 33 and 35-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. "Coating" claimed as such is indefinite and misdescriptive. Ex Parte Scott, 66 USPQ 371. In accordance with the response and discussion therein, for purposes of examination, these claims have been provisionally construed as drawn to a coating composition.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 25-28, 32-35, 38-43, 45 and 48-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent 5958589.

The reference teaches a process of encapsulating a substances such as pharmaceuticals and fragrances (column 2, line 32) using a foamed starch product formed by increasing the pressure and temperature of a starch dispersion followed by release of the pressure evaporating the liquid to form a cellular structure. (See column 6). The products may be produced in the form of spheres. The term "fabric care", for example, composition fails to distinguish the instant claims over the prior art. "Fabric care" is defined only by the intended use of the composition and doesn't exclude the compositions of the reference. Furthermore, known products such as Unilever's Comfort Refresh® are designated by the manufacture as "fabric conditioners" and appear to be fragrance compositions. There is no evidence of record that the terms "fabric care composition", "fabric conditioning composition" or "cleaning composition" exclude the examples of the reference. Finally, even if the compounds of the prior art did not fall within the scope of any of these three terms, the patent explicitly teaches any chemical substance, liquid or solid, may be encapsulated in the patented invention. Any of "fabric care composition", "fabric conditioning composition" or "cleaning composition" fall within that definition and there is no showing that the use of one within the encapsulant of the prior art would exhibit any results not expected by one of ordinary skill in the art.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 36 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 5958589, as applied above, in view of GB 1084301.

The limitations introduced with claims 36 and 37 include addition of a plasticizer such as glycerol. GB 1084301 teach the addition of glycerol to foamed starch coatings to plasticize the products. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to add a plasticizer such as glycerol to the composition of US 5958589 because the GB reference teaches it is known to plasticize starch foams.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

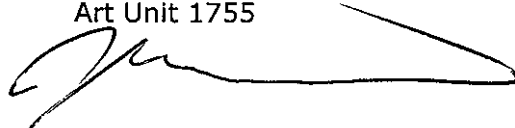

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
